

Katherine Vale - Clinical Research Facilitator (RN Child, SCPHN)

Hello, and Happy International Nurses Day all!

I'm Katherine and I work in the research team at CCS. Having previously worked in nursing roles in paediatric and school nursing, my clinical experiences have facilitated the set-up and delivery of National Institute for Health and Care Research portfolio studies across the Trust. In my research role, I am supported to maintain my nursing registration, and in continuing to support student nurses on placement. I love sharing my enthusiasm for nurse-led community-based research and I have learnt there are so many opportunities for nurses to get involved in research, from supporting the delivery of research studies, to becoming a research champion – nurses have a key role in creating the evidence base for future healthcare and it is fantastic to be a part of this at CCS.
